President's Message

Dave Averbeck

Greetings from the Midwest. I hope that everyone is getting ready for the upcoming breeding season. I know here in the Midwest it seems as if winter doesn't want to end. I look forward to the weather forecast and it is still going to below freezing between now and through the first week in March.

The last annual meet Des Moines was a nice show. It was good to see other breeders there and showing. Leon came in and did a nice job judging for us. We had a short meeting on Friday night. The notes to that meeting will be found later in the next bulletin.

The swallow club has sold out of bands for 2019. We had a very good turnout this year with people buying their bands quickly for the 2019 breeding season. I have sold out both sizes for the first time. Other news please check the membership list to see if your dues have expired. Our dues are still only $10 per year. Members not paid up by March 15th will have to be dropped. It our hope that all of you will stay with our club now and for many years to come.

While going through some old correspondence I came across a letter from Dr. Lynn Hummel. Also in the envelop was an article he wrote for the APJ after visiting our Pageant of Pigeons. It was quite flattering for us and I thought it would be fun to share for those who have not seen it.

Most of us in the West have our birds mated by now and a few young popping out. George de la Nuez mated his birds earlier this year and I think he will break them up earlier to help the breeders go through a better molt. I have just started mating and have a few nice pair. Leon Stephens has a few young hatching.

Nominations

Hello everyone - I hope you are staying warm!!!

I am not sure if we are taking nominations yet but if we are here are mine

Perry Mueller won the annual meet and brought a nice show team. The results will be found later in this bulletin. I want to say a big thank you Jim Grober and Chris Auer for again running the auction for the annual meet. Also, a big thank you for everyone that either donated and/or bought items at the auction. I know that some of us do not think that the auction is necessary, however it does offset the cost for the judge at the annual meet.

Speaking of Annual meet, we need to nominate the next annual meet site. The NPA National got changed this year from

I had the opportunity to attend several shows this year. Nate Wayne and I attended the national in Myrtle Beach. It was a nice show but disappointing that only two breeder had swallows in the show. We were expecting more to be shown. Other shows were down in the numbers this year as well. Some breeders have been having trouble, many deaths in their birds. So, you can understand people not showing. The weather was

The Los Angeles Pigeon Club, as it has done in the past, not to have a Pageant in 2019 due to the Fresno NPA National (the LAPC loses money when there is a NPA show close to us) but as many of you know the Newcastle disease has hit the Southern California area very hard. The Newcastle task force has asked that all bird shows and gatherings be halted in all of California until further notice so the NPA made a move to relocate their show to Amarillo, Texas.

On a final note, I had another die-off this year, similar to the die-off I had last year. At first, I thought it was Adenovirus Fresno to Amarillo. So if we decide that the show site should be with the National please note that it will be in Amarillo and not Fresno, CA. Also need to nominate judges for the annual meet.

Please before you nominate a judge make sure that they are ok with judging at the location of the annual meet.

Finally, we will need to nominate candidates for officers. All of the nominations will need to go to Rachel Stuckey.

Again good luck on the breeding season.

nice at the national as well compared to the cold we have been having in Minnesota this morning it was -12 . Gary Romig attended the national also and was taking many pictures for the NPA quarterly.

I hope everyone has a great breeding season this year. Once again please get your dues to me if your membership is expired.

and treated accordingly. It hit my young birds hard, especially the hens. They kept dying. I medicated with another antibiotic, they kept dying. Several weeks into the die-off I started to get twisting necks, realizing I had PMV I went to the local supplier and bought the new PMV vaccine on the market and within 2 weeks all the dying stopped! I believe the vaccine I was using last year was compromised somewhere in shipping from overseas and it was ineffective. I lost 7 black Saxon Whitetail hens, all that I raised last year so this year I have to re-use all my old hens losing a year's progress. What a mess. At least I can recover.

We had a great show season in 2018. The young bird show in Louisville went well. We had a nice variety of birds shown. It was good to see Tim Starr, his son and Ron DeClement again. Thanks again to Elliot Yeske for doing the judging. He had his hands full with 48 birds shown.

Our annual meet in Des Moines was nice. The numbers were down, but as usual we had a good time of fellowship with one another. Thanks again to Leon Stephens for flying in to judge the show.

If you have an interest in having a dist. meet in your area of the country let us know. We will try to help if we can. As of now we will be going back to Louisville and Des Moines.

USC Auction Dec. 2018 Des Moines, Iowa

Chris Auer

Jim Grober and I would like to thank all of you for helping make the 2018 annual auction a success.

Particular thanks go to Gary Romig, Nate Wayne, Roberto Teti, Purebred Pigeon, Brian Goodwin, Perry Mueller and Jim Grober for their generous donations and to Arnold Chaney, Rachel Stuckey, Nate Wayne, Elliot Yeske, Steve Ripper and Leon Stephens for having the winning bids on those items.

As a result we were able to add $565 to the USC treasury to help defer future costs that the club will incur.

Thank you again for all of your support

Swallows at the 1978 Pageant of Pigeons

Written by Dr. L.E. Hummel & Submitted by Bill Griebel

If you have never attended the Pageant of Pigeons at Pomona, California you have really missed something! It was my pleasure to be a guest there this year, and had I been a King I could not have been treated more royally. But one does not go to an event of this nature to be a guest, but to be an observer and a participant.

Certainly there was much to see - so much to see that to do a thorough job one must spend all of his time looking. And looking I did! But I am sure others will write of the many things to see, so I will devote this short essay to what I saw in the way of Saxon Swallows.

It is my custom each year to spend several weeks visiting Swallow breeders in East Germany, West Germany, Austria and the Netherlands. This I have done for fifteen years, and I mention this only to give weight to a statement I am about to make. There is a "rule of thumb" I have made that gives weight to, and has bearing on what I am going to say. This "rule of thumb" is: "the further on goes from the state of Saxony in East Germany (German Democratic Republic) the poorer the quality of swallows becomes". To follow this thinking then, the best quality is in East Germany, next best comes West Germany, then in a third place would come Austria, Switzerland and Holland, and later would come the United States. This as I have said is my personal thinking on the matter, but remember that there are exceptions to this rule, and the U.S. is one exception. I am not saying that all Swallows in the U.S. come under this exception for this is certainly not the case, but there is at least one loft of Swallows in most colors and markings that has been founded (with exceptions) on rather large numbers of birds imported direct from the best lofts in E. Germany. These birds have been selected by the purchaser himself when he has been a guest of the breeders, and these were top birds.

I am saving the best for the last and it is this: What I saw in the way of Swallows at the Pageant of Pigeons, were as good (or at least compared very favorably) with the best Swallows I have seen bred and exhibited in the shows in East Germany. This is the highest complement I can pay to the birds exhibited and to the breeders of these birds. If you wish to know who were the breeders get a copy of the show report - do not write or call me to find out as I have no record of the ratings

The Fullhead swallows in the colors of black, red, and possibly yellow are not bred in East or West German and those bred in America are a purely American development (as a result of over some one hundred years of work by our breeders (to the best of my knowledge). The Fullhead Swallows in the Pageant were better than any Fullhead Swallows I have seen in Saxony, or any other part of the world. Remember that these birds are a result of the work that breeders in America have done and not as a result of imported blood! Pictures of the winning Swallows arrived too late for this issue of the journal, but will be shown possibly in the next issue, and I call your attention to the gorgeous black barless Fullhead in one of the pictures. Compare this bird to others shown in the pictures for verification of what I have said.

Incidentally, the first prize for best decorated and arranged cages and judging booth was awarded to the Saxon and Toy Pigeon group (which includes Swallows).

This was not an official United Swallow Club meet. In the show room the Swallows were handled by the Rare Breeds Pigeon Club. The Swallows were Judged by Elliot Yeske, a United Swallow Club member and Secretary of the USC. A similar rating system was used.
